

Ca' Foscari University of Venice

Department of Philosophy and Cultural Heritage

BA in Philosophy, International Studies and Economics

Master in Strategic Studies
and International Security

This is part of a series of international lectures sponsored by the new undergraduate course in Philosophy, International Studies and Economics. Dr. Hegghammer is the author and co-author of several books, including Jihad in Saudi Arabia (Cambridge University Press 2010), Al-Qaida in its own words (Harvard University Press 2008), and The Meccan Rebellion (Amal 2011). He has published widely in academic journals, including the American Political Science Review and International Security. He has testified in front of the U.S. Congress and the British Parliament, written op-eds for the New York Times and al-Sharq al-Awsat, and appeared on CNN's Amanpour and Anderson Cooper shows.

PISE Lecture

Introduction and discussant:
Professor Matteo Legrenzi
Ca' Foscari University of Venice

Dr Thomas Hegghammer

University of Oslo, Forsvarets
forskningsinstitutt

The Future of Jihadism in Europe

Tuesday, February 28, 2017, 3pm
Ca' Foscari, Aula Baratto